

PRESIDENT IS NOT CONVINCED

While The Old Fashioned Spelling Goes In The Printing Of Government Papers.

HE WILL USE THE SIMPLIFIED WAY

In His Correspondence That Does Not Need Printing-- Measure Easily Passed By The House This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—The death knell of simplified spelling was sounded today by congress. Without any debate or division the House this morning struck out of the legislative, executive and judicial bill the provision relative to simplified spelling. It is announced, however, that the simplified form will be used at the White House in all correspondence emanating from there, notwithstanding the action of congress. This is taken to mean that President Roosevelt has not been convinced it is a failure even though congress opposes his wishes.

In Correspondence This form will, however, be restricted to all correspondence which does not require printing at the government printing office or any of its branches.

NEGRO ASSAILANT HUNG IN VIRGINIA

Atones for Attack on Girl After Escort Had Been Knocked Down.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—The first legal execution that has taken place in Alexandria county, Va., in more than thirty years is set for today. The condemned man is Joseph Thomas, alias Wright, a negro convicted for a criminal assault on Miss Mabel Riley, a crime which attracted widespread attention here at the time. The crime was committed on the night of September 9 last near Luna Park, a pleasure resort in Alexandria county. About twilight Mr. Forrest Gooding and Miss Riley, now Mrs. Gooding, left the grounds at Luna Park for a quiet stroll along the roadway and finally went to the vicinity of the spring, several hundred yards from the park, and upon reaching the spot they saw but one faint crouching in the underbrush. An instant afterward Wright rushed upon them and struck Mr. Gooding on the head with a large brick. He then turned to Miss Riley and seized her by the neck of her dress and attempted to force her to accompany him. Upon seeing help he returned and was horrified to learn that Miss Riley had not only been robbed, but also assaulted. A posse was formed and a vigorous search begun, but Wright was not located until one week afterward, when he was found in this city.

MAY SEEK RIGHT IN MADISON YET

JANESVILLE-MADISON LINE HAS MADE NO CONTRACT WITH MADISON COMPANY.

HITCH IN THE PROCEEDINGS

Franchise Asked for by the Madison Interurban Company Not Satisfactory to Local Road Officials.

The fact that President Montgomery of the Madison Traction and Interurban Company has announced a deal has been made with H. H. Clough and Duncan MacAllister, representing the Janesville-Madison Railway Company, by which this latter company was to use the tracks of his road in Madison, it is learned from an authentic source that no contracts have been made as yet and it is probable that none will be made unless the franchise at present pending in the Madison council is amended.

Makes It Exclusive The franchise, asked for by Mr. Montgomery is for an almost exclusive freight in the city of Madison. It is being bitterly opposed by many of Madison's leading business men and the council has repeatedly delayed action upon it for some months. There is a probability that the Janesville-Madison railway company will enter the field as an applicant for an interurban franchise which will run into Madison so as not to conflict with the Madison company's tracks or property.

Ready for Work It is learned this morning that the promoters of the Janesville-Madison road have completed the surveys and maps drawn up to Madison and have only been waiting for a settlement of the Madison franchise question before making definite plans for commencing work. This will include the taking over of the local city line and making Janesville the terminal of the road from Madison.

SCHOOL STUDENTS IN CLASS RUMPUS

Denison Trophy Cup Disappeared and Seniors Attempted to Hang up a Tin Pail.

Sometime yesterday the Denison trophy cup, won from the high school Seniors by the Juniors, disappeared. At noon members of the higher class procured a tin pail and attempted to hang it where the cup had stood. The Junior boys indulged in a university style rush and for a few minutes a regulation college class fight was in progress. The faculty finally quieted the melee and secured possession of the mock trophy. This morning the cup, minus the bane and gold streamers with which it had been decorated by the Juniors, was mysteriously returned and will be kept by the faculty until the class enthusiasm subsides. The plan of the Juniors to celebrate their victory with a banquet has been abandoned, Supt. H. C. Buell having suggested that the time for preparation was too short.

GARDEN CITY, KAS., HAS BEET FACTORY

Million-Dollar Plant, Similar to Janesville Refinery, One of Most Complete.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Garden City, Kas., Dec. 14.—A $1,000,000 beet sugar refinery, pronounced the most complete plant of its kind in the world, has just been successfully opened here, and within a short time Kansas sugar in large quantities will be placed on the market. The plant has a capacity of 300,000 tons of pure white granulated sugar every twenty-four hours. The working force consists of between 500 and 600 persons. The beets are raised by irrigation in the Kansas end of the Arkansas River valley. Up to this year they have been marketed in the beet sugar factories of Colorado. The tonnage of beets grown around Garden City this year is nearly four times greater than the aggregate for the entire state in all previous years. These lands will produce from twelve to thirty-five tons of sugar beets per acre. This is enough to keep ten or twelve factories busy. Each factory means to the community in which it is situated the disbursement of from $250,000 to $500,000 a year for beets and about the same sum for labor.

This addition enlarges the membership of the consistory to 1,002. The work of initiating the class through the various ranks from the fourth to the thirty-second consumed four days and the ceremonies were concluded with a banquet last night. The feast was served in the Masonic building and about 600 members, including a number from Janesville, were present. Commander-in-Chief Wm. F. Miller presided and toasts were responded to by Rev. Wallace A. Williams of Antigo, class orator; Judge George Grimm of Jefferson, president of the class, and Clarence B. Bird of Wausau who spoke on "The Science of Future Life." ## GARDENS UNDER EARTH

Indiana Man to Raise Tropical Plants in Unused Mine.

WILL CULTIVATE FIFTEEN ACRES

Colonel Posey of Evansville Intends to Illuminate the Various Chambers and Passageways of His Mine With Acetylene Gas—Many Tons of Rich Soil to Be Imported Into the Mine.

Frank B. Posey, surveyor of the port of Evansville, Ind., and a Republican leader of prominence, is about to undertake in Spencer county a remarkable experiment, says the Indianapolis Star. He proposes to plant gardens under the earth's surface and to raise the fruits and flowers of the tropics. The hanging gardens of Babylon ranked as one of the early wonders of the world, but the people in Evansville say they will not be in it with the underground gardens of Spencer county.

A few years ago Colonel Posey, who formerly represented the First district in congress, bought 200 acres of land on Pigeon creek, lying partly in Spencer and partly in Warrick counties. On the place is a coal mine that was abandoned seventeen years ago. Recently Colonel Posey caused the shaft to be reopened, and to his surprise he found that, unlike nearly all abandoned mines, the interior chambers were intact.

Colonel Posey organized an exploring party and investigated all of the ramifications of the abandoned mine. He found there are a series of fifteen acres, subdivided into chambers 200 feet long and of varying width. These chambers are about 100 feet below the surface of the earth.

It is once occurred to Colonel Posey, who delights in experiments, that here was an opportunity to test the feasibility of underground gardening. He was satisfied that if he could raise fifteen acres of garden truck 100 feet below the earth's surface he would perform an achievement that would arrest the attention of scientific circles all over the world and at the same time prove immensely profitable. He learned by taking temperatures that the interior of the mine remains constantly at 65 degrees, the even temperature of the earth. This temperature is unvarying winter and summer and is the temperature most conducive to the growth of plant life. Furthermore, the air is saturated with carbonic gas, upon which plants thrive.

In order to grow, however, plants require light, and how to light his underground gardens has been a problem that was difficult to solve, but Colonel Posey has conceived that he has at last found the solution. He will illuminate the various chambers and passageways with acetylene gas, which furnishes a very brilliant light and is inexpensive.

"I had heard," said Colonel Posey, "that some experiments conducted at Cornell university, proved conclusively that sunlight is not necessary to the growth of plants and that acetylene gas furnishes a very good substitute." He wrote to Clifford Pinchot, chief of the United States bureau of forestry, for information on the subject, and he has received his reply. He says that he has participated in the experiments at Cornell and that while they could not be called completely successful, they showed that plants can be made to grow and mature by the aid of acetylene gas. The cost of generating this light is nominal. Ten cents will pay for the illumination of a room or chamber 200 feet long and fifty feet wide for twenty-four hours. It has been proved time and again that electricity is a good substitute for sunlight in raising plants, but it is entirely too expensive for ordinary use.

Colonel Posey expects to spend a good many thousands of dollars in preparing his underground gardens for cultivation. He will import into the mine hundreds of tons of rich soil and shape it into beds, such as are found in greenhouses. He recently planted a crop of mushrooms and expects to have mushrooms for market by Thanksgiving. His intention is to raise large quantities of lettuce and celery for the winter markets, and he will devote much attention to the cultivation of figs and oranges. He also expects to grow roses on an extensive scale.

Colonel Posey's farm is near the Ohio river, and an electric line has been surveyed within a distance of half a city block from it, so that he anticipates no difficulty in marketing the produce of his underground gardens.

An Entertaining Italian.

The Italians of New York are an enterprising lot, but sometimes enterprise goes too far. There is a son of Italy who does business on Park place who will soon have enough money to return to the "boot peninsula" and buy a country unless some husky American puts him out of business because of his audacity, says the New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. The Italian presses trousers as means of livelihood. He stands near the foot of the steps leading to the Park place station and drags men into his little shop, where they wait until their trousers are pressed. "Looka, looka, mister!" is the salutation of the Italian as he points to the big knuckles of the men rushing to their offices. "Coma! Inside ana pressa da pants ana make da yaramucha lika da new for a dime. Pants looka vera muchada, bad. I have da goosa hot, and it's da da da da da." The Italian really presses a pair of trousers in a few minutes. The customers go behind a screen and read the newspapers while he is at work.

SHOOPANG SALAD A FAD.

Chinese Minister Shows Washington Society How to Make It.

Washington society has a new fad, according to a special dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald. It is the preparation of shoopang, or chrysanthemum salad, according to a recipe furnished by the Chinese minister. Chrysanthemum salad is "food for the gods," the piece de resistance of oriental banquets, and under the guidance of Sir Chingtung Liang, Chinese society misses and matrons are preparing the favorite dish of the gastronomers of the Flowery Kingdom. Here is the recipe for the mysterious dish:

Twenty-four selected hearts of the shoopang or Chinese chrysanthemum. Twelve "fish wings," colloids from the flanks of the moy wen, or sunfish. Two broiler chickens. Four young pigeons. Cutlets from three lobsters.

Bake the fish with flavoring of ki long, a spice resembling saffron. Broil the fowl with a flavoring of hood, another Chinese herb.

Then steam all ingredients together for three-quarters of an hour with a strong infusion of the way flower and serve with garnishing of Chinese greens. The way flower may be omitted, as it is very pungent and not agreeable to some American palates, though highly prized by the Chinese.

Although called a salad, the shoopang is a formidable dish and in the proportions given is enough for eight persons. It is primarily intended for the principal course of a banquet. It is possible to prepare it in a chafing dish, but a Mongolian cook seems to be essential for a successful concoction. Those who have tasted the salad pronounce it delicious. Many of the ingredients cannot be obtained outside of Chinatown, and the high prices of most of them place the dish beyond the reach of the ordinary household.

DAWN OF A NEW RELIGION.

No Throne Above, No Beyond, Says Professor Schmidt of Cornell.

Professor Nathaniel Schmidt of the Cornell department of Semitic languages and oriental history, preached in the Unitarian church at Ithaca the other morning, says the New York World.

The speaker declared that a new religion was approaching, in which is a deeper insight into nature and a deepening of the moral sense. Christianity has failed to adapt itself to the spiritual needs of man, he said. The new religion will meet all these. It will be universal, covering all times and peoples.

The supernatural in religion is foolishness, he declared. There is no throne above in the new faith, and the idea of a beyond can have no place. We are all denizens of the universe. The mind must progress. Away with formulas and creeds! Put them into a museum, as a thing to be studied.

He Knew Methuselah.

A good story is told of a minister who preached a sermon on Methuselah in a lunatic asylum. When he came to the place in his discourse where he stated that Methuselah lived to be 900 years old, a man in the audience arose and told him in a very emphatic tone of voice that it was a lie. After the meeting the minister asked the man why he doubted the statement as to Methuselah's age.

"Why," he said, "I ought to know his age; Methuselah and I went to school together."

Needed Help.

A ten-year-old street urchin, a product of the tenement, was recently accused of stealing jam from a woman living in an adjoining house. When brought to the children's court the child confessed, broke down and wept. The judge looked at him pityingly.

"My boy," he said, kindly, "how many times have you done that?"

"Once," was the reply.

"Will you promise not to steal any more jam?"

"Yes," he muttered, "between his sobs, 'if she'll keep her pantry door locked all the time.'"

Pearl in a Pig's Mouth.

Cutting open the head of a dressed pig the other afternoon, Patrick Mullen of Isabelle avenue and Evergreen street, Bayonne, N. J., found a large pearl, says the New York Times. The gem was just back of the pig's snout. Although the enterprising Mullen has received an offer of $100 for the stone by Charles Becker, by whom he is employed, he refused the offer.

HEN A CLEVER PICKPOCKET.

Short of Leg and Long of Neck It Won Many a Penny.

A hen with a neck like a turkey and one leg an inch shorter than the other attracted attention here a few days ago and caused as much merriment as a one-ring circus, says the New York World man at McKeever, N. Y.

The fowl, which was said to be two years old, was the property of an organ grinder, who carried it on top of his organ instead of a monkey. He had taught it to do several tricks, and it is safe to say that it collected more pennies than the average simian.

When the organ grinder struck the village the hen was perched on top of one shoulder, emitting sounds between a crow and a squeal. This naturally attracted attention and soon a small crowd was assembled. As soon as enough had arrived the hen dropped to the ground and began to navigate in a series of circles toward possible donors of coin. Owing to the fact that one leg was shorter than the other it could not proceed in a straight line, and its efforts to pick up pennies tossed on the ground were extremely ludicrous.

Once it had a coin in its beak the hen would flutter and squawk and circle back to the grinder and place the treasure in his breeches pocket. Then it would navigate back to the crowd and look for more. The long neck of the fowl was of advantage, for, by standing on the toes of its long leg, it could search vest pockets for pennies. In this way several were added to the collection. The hen, in fact, was as good a pickpocket as was ever found operating at the county fair.

WAS BEYOND THE PALE.

The Reason Chaucer Is Not in Society Now.

A friend of James Whitcomb Riley tells of an occasion when the humorist, who is as a rule, extremely averse to social functions, was induced to attend a "literary" dinner in Indianapolis given in honor of a novelist of that city.

Riley had been told off to take in to dinner the sister of his host, an excellent woman, though anything but "literary."

The conversation touching upon the beauties of Chaucer, about whom a certain set of the city was then cultivating a fad, a spirited discussion ensued, during which the bewildered sister caught from time to time only the name "Chaucer."

At last she whispered to Riley: "Who is this Mr. Chaucer they're talking about so much? Is he very popular in society?"

"Darn," solemnly responded Riley, "that man did something that forever shuts him out of society!"

"Heavens!" exclaimed the worthy dame; "and what was that?"

"He died several hundred years ago," said Riley.

Stole to Get Medical Aid.
A poor man in Vienna found it impossible to get admission to any of the public hospitals because they were all overcrowded. He stole a pair of shoes to get himself arrested, reasoning that in jail he would receive medical treatment. He was given the necessary medical attention, and when he recovered his health served a brief term for petty larceny.

The Exclusive Waste Basket.

The latest and smartest waste baskets are of leather, covered with an open pattern of wicker and with a large roll of the leather over the top. These are particularly appropriate for the library or study when the leather is the exact shade of wall paper, chairs and other furnishings. So far they are sufficiently expensive to be very exclusive.

EDUCATION FOR THE MASSES

The annual report of the commissioner of education to the secretary of the interior, has just been published. It contains some statistics that are worth considering.

The schools for the blind, representing some forty states, have a school enrollment of 441. This is small when the fact is recognized that the blind population of the country is about 50,000, representing fully 12,000 children of school age. In our own state there are 1500 blind people, with about 100 blind children in school.

Of the deaf, the report gives a school enrollment of 11,952. The deaf population of the country is about 150,000. While the states provide liberally for the education of both the blind and deaf, it is very evident that the schools are not appreciated, and that something should be done to awaken an interest in the minds of parents of these unfortunate classes.

In the elementary and secondary schools of the land, both public and private, the enrollment is 17,993,676.

This includes all the public and parochial schools, and when compared with the enrollment of all the colleges, universities, normal and professional schools represented by an attendance of 165,176, the contrast is significant in more ways than one.

Just compare the figures and see what they mean. One per cent of 17,993,676 is 179,936, and this is 14,000 more than the enrollment at all the higher institutions of learning in the country.

This means that a fraction less than one per cent of all the children of the land ever enter the college or university, and explains, to some extent, the complaints so frequently heard about liberal state support for so limited a class.

The comparison of these figures suggest another criticism on the common school system of the country, and that is, the inconsistency with which it is managed. The ambition of every high school in the land is to be on the "accredited list." This means the adoption of a course of study which will qualify graduates to enter the university without examination.

A lofty ambition from an educator's standpoint, but what does it mean to the common schools? It means time wasted on Latin, botany and a lot of other "trills," at the expense of spelling, language, penmanship and other things so necessary to fundamental education, and all for the benefit of a fraction less than one per cent of the scholars in attendance.

The question is very naturally asked,

Why do these conditions exist, and who is to blame for them? And the answer, of course, is the school boards and the people responsible for school management and direction.

But who is responsible for the school board and management? Somebody elects and appoints, and without much effort the fact is recognized that "we, the people," are alone responsible for conditions in the public schools.

When Hawley Smith gave his famous lecture at the Methodist church, the other night, the audience was spellbound, not by his eloquence, but by his simplicity and directness of statement in discussing practical education.

This was one of his questions: "My good folks, how many of you ever visit the public schools? Don't all speak at once." But there was no response, and it is safe to say that of the five hundred intelligent people present, a very small fraction would represent the number of school visitors.

Then the speaker continued: "John visits his hogpen three times a day, seven days in the week. He thinks a good deal of his hogs, but he never visits his boy in the school. Mary throws her apron over her head and visits the neighbor, across the way, every other day. She thinks a good deal of her neighbor and the gossip of the neighborhood, but she never visits the school room where her daughter is preparing for life."

That tells the whole story of indifference and universal neglect, and accounts for a lot of things in the pub-der for 25 cents if 8 of those ounces are alum?

STUDY THE LABEL

lic schools that we kick about without attempting to remedy.

If the time ever comes when public sentiment is aroused sufficiently to grasp the situation, the importance of the "accredited" high school will be lost in the demand for a course of study and training, which will equip graduates from either the grades or high school, with practical knowledge.

The university, while expensive, is a good thing for one per cent of the scholars of the state, but the 99 per cent, representing the masses, is entitled to more consideration than is being accorded.

THE BELATED SHOPPER

The night before Christmas, last year, an enthusiastic husband of 40 years, standing, rushed downtown to buy his wife a Christmas present. He had no more idea of what he wanted than you have, but, a considerate friend suggested that for a man of his age, a nice embroidered night robe would be a suitable present.

The garments looked so attractive that he bought two and went home well satisfied with a five-dollar investment. His wife, of course, was delighted, but she said, "John, why didn't you buy half a dozen?" "Well," he said, "this was all they had of this pattern. If you don't like them you can change them for anything else."

She kept one for dress parade, in case of sickness. Moral: Don't wait till the last day in the afternoon before making your Christmas purchases.

EVILS OF MODERN LIFE.

Harm Done by Hurry and Worry of Our Modern Civilization.

Not long ago, while traveling, I chanced to stop at a village on the river Rhine, where I found an astonishing number of old people. There were a dozen over one hundred years age, and many from 80 years old up to the century mark; yet straight and vigorous. One woman nearly a hundred years old was earning her living by picking hops; her grandchildren were middle-aged. It was quite wonderful. But there was no mystery about it; it was merely the effect of a simple life spent largely in the fields, with plain diet, consisting of a few vegetables and fruits, little meat, and native beer and wine for beverages.

Nothing can be more obvious than that the very complexity of our modern civilization is shortening our lives.

But of all the evils that afflict us the worst and most destructive are hurry and worry. Hurry drives the body machine beyond its capacity, while worry racks it inwardly. Of the two worry is probably the worse. This night, indeed, he called the age of worry. Because of the intense nervous strain to which we are subjected, we do vastly more worrying than did our forebears. The average man of to-day is continually surrounded and pursued by phantom troubles, which, though few of them ever materialize into realities, haunt him continually, ruining his peace of mind and injuring his health.—Dr. John V. Shoemaker in the Reader.

SETTLED CASE RIGHT THERE.

Revenue Officer's Argument Cogent and All-Convincing.

Miss Dorothea Klumpke, the astronomer, was talking about the difficulties and intricacies that astronomy presents to the lay mind.

"For instance," she said, "there is the well-known case of the meteorite that fell on a Vermont farm in '95. It was a valuable meteorite, and the landlord at once stepped up and claimed it. 'All minerals and metals on the land belong to me,' he said. 'That's in the lease!'

"But the tenant demurred. 'This meteorite,' he said 'wasn't on the farm, you must remember, when the lease was drawn up.

"The landlord perceived the justice of that claim. He thought a moment and said: 'I have a theory that all true sequence comes from the tails iv the coat, an' if ye made an orator change into a short coat he wud become deaf an' dumb.'—Disertations of Mr.

Dooley."

Risk of the Early Customer.

At a Bath (Eng.) inquest, it was stated that there were signs of lead poisoning in the system of a man who had been a heavy drinker. The doctor explained that it was probably due to his having been an early morning customer at public houses, as a consequence of which he would be served with the beer which had stood in lead pipes all night.

Clams Held the Rat.

"Ever see a rattap like that?" inquired a man, as he held aloft an imprisoned rat. Attached to one of the rodent's forefeet was a clam. Attached to his tail was a clam. Each clam held on with a viselike grip, and the rat, though still squirming, was probably not sorry when some one threw him into the brook, clam and all. The rat had found its way into a barrel of clams, and, being a youngster, was unable to cope with such odds.

Every day the Santa Fe pays out nearly $500 for track-walkers and watchmen, $1,150 for the water its locomotives use, and nearly $14,000 for the coal and oil that these locomotives consume. The expense of maintaining the equipment in apple order reaches the enormous sum of almost $20,000 every twenty-four hours. Keeping up the roadway, rails, ties, bridges, buildings and telegraph system, costs a fifth more than the equipment item. It takes lots of ready cash to run a railroad just right. While the Santa Fe is liberal in its advertising, few persons would think that it cost the company more money; the last fiscal year to keep snow, ice and weeds off the track than it did to pay for its newspaper and magazine advertisements, books of travel, time-table folders, pictures, etc. The insurance item was almost as large.

Happiness in Marriage.
It all comes around to one of two things, says Harper's Bazar. With all married couples who differ in habit, in taste, in opinion, in mode of life, if there is to be any happiness somebody has to learn to give up, or give up minding that there is a difference; either is as good as the other. It is surprising how many things are not of any importance if one can only think they are not!

PIONEER RESIDENT OF COUNTY IS GONE

Mrs. Fannie L. Smith Passed Away at Home on South Academy Street at 2:20 This Morning.

After a six months' illness, Mrs. Fannie L. Smith, a Wisconsin pioneer and a well known resident of Janesville for the past three score years, died at her home, 154 South Academy street at 2:20 o'clock this morning. The deceased was born in Clinton, N. Y., August 1, 1828, and came to Wisconsin when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Wood, and family settled on a farm seven miles west of Janesville in 1844. On April 25, 1849, she became the wife of G. S. Strasberger and one daughter, Elora, was born to them. She passed away in 1903 and Mr. Strasberger followed her from this life. Mrs. Strasberger was wedded for the second time in 1850, the groom being the late Erastus C. Smith, whose demise occurred in 1891. The only near relative that survives Mrs. Smith is her sister, Mrs. A. J. Ingersoll, of 162 South Jackson street. Mrs. Smith's remains will be taken to La Crosse for burial, funeral services being held from the home in Janesville at three o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Henry Corbin
At the Palmer Memorial Hospital this morning at ten o'clock Henry Corbin, an early settler of Rock county, was summoned in death. The demise was due largely to old age, infirmities having confined him to the hospital during a part of the summer and for the past several days. He was seventy-four years of age and for many years was a farmer in the town of La Prairie, where he has relatives. Since retiring from active life he has lived the greater part of the time at the Railroad Hotel in this city. Mrs. Corbin passed away several months ago and Mr. Corbin's nearest surviving relatives are a niece and nephew residing in Green, New York. His remains will be shipped thither for burial, leaving Janesville at six o'clock tomorrow morning.

is the minimum percentage of its deposits which a National Bank must hold in cash.

That great Standard Oil institution, the National City Bank of New York City, last Saturday had eight one hundredths of one per cent in excess of the reserve required by law. Our reserve is and for some time has been considerably over twice as large as the legal requirement. That is, we have in cash and on deposit in banks approved by the comptroller of the currency as reserve agents, an amount over twice as large as the law considers a safe reserve.

Before The Footlights.

"Painting the Town" The attraction at the Myers theatre Saturday, matinee and evening, Dec. 15, will be the new musical burlesque entitled, "Painting the Town." It is a hodge-podge of mirth calculated to keep the audience constantly amused. There is more of a story to the piece than is usually found in like productions, but the plot does not get a chance to interfere with the idea of producing laughter and in carrying it out there is brought into play as much originality as is found in the half a dozen of the ordinary brand of road shows. There are several very catchy and tuneful songs and the choruses gathered together for the production is by no means lacking in looks. The scenic effects are from the Charles H. Yale studio, which is a guarantee that nothing will be lacking in this respect. The music is by Herman Perlet and the costumes by Van Horn of New York. Haliday and Leonard, the very clever and very popular Irish comedians, head the cast, assisted by Miss Mazie King, Miss Louise Sanford, Trina Atlantic, four Bohannon, Poppy, Norman and Allyn, and a chorus of forty people. "Painting the Town" is said to be a continuous laugh and so being, fulfills the purpose for which it was written—to present an unusual and enjoyable entertainment, interspersed with the tuneful and musical novelties, interpreted by clever artists with sumptuous accessories in brilliant costumes and scenic surroundings. This point is to be it does not mean that the production is a thing that has been left, undone that liberal order of the management could inspire.

Reports from the cast say that Lavinia, the great Russian pianist Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, December 14, 1866.—A Hint to City Fathers.—In fitting up our new caption we have left a space just large enough to hold the photographs of each of these gentlemen who have acted as Mayor of the city. It would make a good looking group that we should be proud of, and hope this hint will be acted upon at once.

A New and a Good Thing.—Among the latest things in the line of fuel-saving is a weather strip, for putting around doors, now being introduced in this city by Mr. Eugene Mitchell of Whitewater. It is being almost universally adopted in that town and is pronounced unequalled. The common sense of the thing is so apparent that it must strike every one favorably. We think it will meet with universal favor.

The Bernadotte-Gazette says that from 18 to 20 persons die daily in St. Thomas from cholera.

The Senate has decided not to take any action on impeachment until after various special committees have made their reports.

Late Mexican advances confirm the report that Maximilian has not left the country, but is on his way back to Mexico city to make one more desperate effort to maintain his empire.

Theatre.—Notwithstanding the short notice MacFarland's dramatic company had a tolerably good house last night to witness the play of the "Magic Marriage," which was well rendered.

The musical interludes of Mr. and Mrs. Florence deserve especial mention. It is something new to hear an overture, usually rendered in large theatres by eighteen or twenty musicians, condensed and executed by two persons, and yet have all the music and harmony preserved. The bary solo from Mr. Clark, was one of the best things we ever heard from that instrument and worth the price of admission.

Tonight the "Polish Exile" is to be put on the boards, which will draw out the full strength of the company—the entertainment ending with a roaring farce.

AGAINST STATE INSURANCE.

Wisconsin Senatorial Committee Finds Plan Not Feasible.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 14.—The majority report of the committee appointed by the last state senate to investigate the feasibility of establishing a state life insurance department in Wisconsin, has completed its investigation upon which it has been engaged for two years and Thursday filed its report with Governor Davidson. The committee is not in favor of having the state go into the life insurance business because it does not find it feasible at this time.

The report is signed by Senators Julius E. Roehr and James A. Freer, while Senator Jacob Rummel, socialist, whose party is trying to foster a number of state and municipal ownership projects in the legislature, dissents.

ALL GOVERNMENT
BUILDINGS SMALLSENATOR HEYBURN WANTS NA-TION TO PURCHASE PROPERTY.

TOO MUCH PAID FOR RENTALS

Congressmen No Longer Trust Selves and Laws to Protect Them from Temptation Are Planned.

(By William Wolff Smith.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Special Correspondence.—A good deal of interest is manifested here in the bill recently introduced by Senator Heyburn of Idaho, to provide for the purchase by the government of all the property south of Pennsylvania avenue, from the Botanical Gardens to the Treasury building, to be reserved for the erection of buildings for the government, as they may be needed from time to time. This proposition has been agitated for many years, and has always found more or less favor in congress. The government now owns a good deal of the property south of the avenue, including the grounds of the Botanical garden, the Fish commission, the National museum, Agricultural department, the Smithsonian Institute, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, the Postoffice department, and Washington monument, and it is proposed by the bill of Senator Heyburn to purchase the remaining property, so that it may be known together, and all future buildings for the use of the government in this city erected thereon.
At the last session an effort was made to provide for a part of this on which to erect a building for the use of the Department of Justice, a building that is sorely needed. At the present time, the government is annually paying out large sums in the way of rentals for buildings in which to transact the business of the government. There is no department that is not crowded to the limit for space, and some of the property thus rented is of considerable distance from the department to which it belongs. Thus the necessity for new buildings is very great, and their erection would eventuate in a large saving in the way of rents, besides materially aiding in the prompt transaction of the business of the government. A number of new buildings will have to be erected in the near future, and the value of real property is a great saving for the government to purchase now all the ground it will likely need for many years.
By placing all the public buildings in one section of the city the convenience of the government officials as well as that of the public would be conserved. The people of America are justly proud of the capital of the nation, and if all the ground between the avenue and the Potomac river could be owned by the government and covered with its public buildings, it would make it the delight of all foreigners visiting this country. Senator Heyburn intends to push his bill to a final conclusion.
It does look as if our distinguished lawmakers have about reached the conclusion that the only way to keep them from going wrong is to legislate against themselves. They have for years been trying to keep everybody else in the straight and narrow way and have forgotten that their feet may stray out of the path of virtue. The good people have been watching the sly doings of congressmen, and have about reached the conclusion that when a man is chosen to represent a district or a state in our national legislature his own ideas of the respect due his high office and to the confidence placed in him by his fellow citizens would keep him from going wrong, even in the remotest degree, is a myth, and that "they have" not counted on human frailty, so they will halt the attempt to safeguard our national legislators by a prohibitory law, as a return to higher honesty.
The safeguards proposed by the bill presented by Representative Randall of Texas, is for the personal safety of the congressmen, but to keep them from straying into by and for-bidden paths, wherein their garments smell of smoke.
There are senators and representatives who have so exalted an opinion of the dignity of the public service that upon entering that service they immediately divorce themselves from all outside business, but now and then there has been one not so careful of his own credit. It is still a shame to the American public to recall the Ge-veler and Credit Mobilier scandals that agitated the country between 1870 and 1880. Those scandals caused a number of men of high talents, and who enjoyed the confidence and respect of the public, to retire to private life, and the smoke always hung around others who did not retire. It is only about a dozen years since the famous sugar scandal caught a number of distinguished statesmen, and for a number of years members of both Houses of congress have specu-lated in one way or another in matters that might possibly come up for legislative action. Representative Randall is endeavoring, by a very drastic bill to keep congressmen from everything of the kind while they remain in congress. The bill prohibits, under severe penalties, senators and members of the House from serving as officers, agents, or attorneys for any trust or public service corporation.
The vast growth of this country attracts the wonder of the entire world, and it is not surprising if we,
as Americans, become a little inflated, and boast of our being a world power in more senses than one. It is conservatively estimated that the total value of agricultural and manufacturing products, and the output of our mines for the year 1906 will reach $23,400,000. That is more than all the world produced less than forty years ago. As a larger per cent of our population is engaged in farming than in any other pursuit, it will be interesting to note that in fifteen years, or since 1890, the value of farm property has increased from $10,682,000,000 to $28,000,000,000, and the value of farm products in the same time has jumped from $2,468,000,000 to $8,800, 000,000, a gain of nearly 300 per cent.
Take our exports: In 1890 agricultural exports amounted to $630,000,000, and in 1898 to $976,000,000. In the same time manufactured exports increased from $151,000,000 in 1890 to $603,000, 000 in 1906.
It is confidently predicted that our agricultural exports in 1907 will pass the billion-dollar mark. Great as has been the growth of our manufacturing industries, and the tremendous strides we have made in that direction, agriculture still leads by a large margin in the matter of exports. Nearly all the world is made tributary to the United States, and the new era that is promised when we have a merchant marine equal to the demands of our ocean carrying trade will soon capture the rest of the world for our market.
Given coffee a bit of sausage and a plate of Mrs. Austin's Buckwheat cakes make a perfect breakfast.

SEEKS $6,000 DAMAGES
FOR EDGERTON ACCIDENTMorris Hain Wants the St. Paul Ry.
Co. to Compensate for Loss of Wife and Property.Alleging that through the negligence and carelessness of trainmen his wife and a team of horses were killed and his wagon and other property destroyed by a St. Paul train at Edgerton on March 23 last, Morris Hain has commenced an action against the railroad company in the Dane county circuit court for $6,000 damages. He claims that the train was going at the rate of 60 miles an hour and that his wife, despite every Strength Comes

Not From What You Eat. But
From What You Digest.Most people eat most foods without discrimination—it matters little what. Few stop to think what that food does for them. This is the first turn on the road to dyspepsia. Reckless disregard of the proper choice of foods, rapid eating and improper mastication are the unquestioned causes of all stomach disorders from the slight ache to the malignant cancer.
There is nothing more revolting than a dyspeptic stomach—a very valuable for putrefaction, sending forth, its poison throughout the entire system, depressing the brain, befouling the breath, souring the taste, deadening the muscles, incapacitating the liver and kidneys for their work, debilitating the heart, choking the lungs, and clogging the bowels.
All of these disagreeable and dangerous conditions are due to the improper digestion of food and the consequent assimilation of poison. What else can be expected? If the food lies in the stomach, if the system is constipated, fermentation is the natural outcome. It shows itself in sour watery risings, belchings, heartburn and painful breathing.
There is only one way to relieve this condition. If the stomach refuses to digest your food put something in to it that will. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are nothing but digestives.
They are not a medicine. They work when the stomach will not.
Each tablet contains enough pep-sin, diastase, golden seal and other digestive elements to reduce 3,000 grains of ordinary food to the proper consistency for assimilation into the blood.
Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are absolutely pure. There is nothing harmful in them as shown in their endorsement by 40,000 physicians in the United States and Canada.
Ask your family physician his opinion of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and if he is honest toward you he will state positively that they will cure your stomach trouble whatever it may be, unless you have waited too long and have allowed your disorder to develop into cancer.
Act today and begin to end your suffering. A free trial package will be sent to your address upon request.
The 50 cent size packages are for sale at your druggist's. F. A. Stuart Co.,

DOLLY VARDEN CAST
IN REVIVAL SERVICEExtraordinary Episode in Which
W. E. Biederwolf Figured Occurred in La Crosse Last Night.Dr. W. E. Biederwolf, the revival-ist who conducted union services here two years ago, and the members of the company which is to appear at the Myers theatre tonight in the musical comedy "Dolly Varden" figured in an extraordinary episode at La Crosse last night. As the first act was nearing a close a Gate City clergyman suddenly appeared on the stage and picking his way gingerly between the name part was dressed in her knickerbockers, and other scantly bedecked maidens, raised a hand to compel attention and appealed to the audience and players to remain for midnight revival service at the close of the performance.
During the last act 700 men and women, led by Dr. Biederwolf and La Crosse clergymen, paraded about the streets of the business section in the rain, singing hymns, and when the curtain went down for the last time and the strains of "Dainty Dolly," Dolly Varden's song, were filling the air, the revivalist marched in and
"Glory to Me" sung by 700 voices, drowned the comic opera air. Part of the company, in stage costumes, remained in the wings and moved by the novelty of the situation presently joined in the singing, while others donned street clothing and took seats in the audience, all taking part in the service with spirit.
Miss Spencer and Miss Clara Klein,
one of the leading soloists, subsequently took a hand and helped lead in the singing. At the close of the service, a chorus girl, wearing the flimsy bridal costume of the last act, approached the evangelist and in tears declared she would leave the stage and return to her home in New York. A number of others were also deeply affected. The service continued until midnight, the theatre being packed with a mixed audience of religious devotees and pleasure-seekers who had come out to see the show.

IN REVIVAL SERVICEExtraordinary Episode in Which
W. E. Biederwolf Figured Occurred
in La Crosse Last Night.Dr. W. E. Biederwolf, the revival-ist who conducted union services
at the Myers theatre tonight in the
musical comedy "Dolly Varden" figured in an extraordinary episode at La Crosse last night. As the first
act was nearing a close a Gate City
clergyman suddenly appeared on the
between the name part was dress-
scantly bedecked maidens, raised a
hand to compel attention and appeal-
the close of the performance.
During the last act 700 men and
women, led by Dr. Biederwolf and La Crosse clergymen, paraded about the streets of the business section in the
rain, singing hymns, and when the
and the strains of "Dainty Dolly,"
air, the revivalist marched in and
"Glory to Me" sung by 700 voices,
drowned the comic opera air. Part
of the company, in stage costumes,
joined in the singing, while others
in the audience, all taking part in
the service with spirit.
Miss Spencer and Miss Clara Klein,
one of the leading soloists, subse-
service, a chorus girl, wearing the
flimsy bridal costume of the last act,
return to her home in New York. A number of others were also deeply
affected. The service continued until
midnight, the theatre being packed
with a mixed audience of religious
had come out to see the show.

PRESIDENT DROPS HIS NEW SPELLING

HE YIELDS TO OPPOSITION OF THE LOWER HOUSE.

PUTS END TO CONFUSION

Representatives to Vote on Increase of Salaries—Senator Dubois Assails Roosevelt in the Smoot Case.

Washington, Dec. 14.—President Roosevelt will withdraw his simplified spelling order to the public printer and hereafter all documents from the executive departments will again be printed in the old-fashioned style.

Mr. Landis, of the joint committee on spelling, had a conference Thursday with the president, when the latter said that he did not wish to have spelling overshadow matters of great importance and expressed a willingness to revoke his order for the new spelling in case the house of representatives should go on record as opposed to the system.

Accordingly, late Thursday afternoon Mr. Landis introduced the following resolution in the house:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the house of representatives that hereafter in presenting reports, documents, or other publications authorized by law, ordered by congress or either branch thereof, or emanating from the executive departments, their bureaus or branches, and independent officers of the government, the government printing office should observe and adhere to the standard of orthography prescribed in generally accepted dictionaries of the English language."

The measure was passed without a dissenting vote.

Reform Created Confusion.

The system of reformed spelling was put into effect by the president during the recess of congress, and all public documents supplied to the executive departments have been printed in the simplified way. These documents have been pouring in on congress ever since the opening day, much to the dissatisfaction of a large majority of the members of the house. As a result the government printing office was using two forms of spelling in public printing, the old method for congress, and the reform introduced in the executive departments.

This caused a confusion and comment unfavorable to the reform and finally was made an issue between the legislative and executive departments, the judicial department having previously frowned upon the president's order.

Other Doings of the House.

The house also reached an agreement under which it looks as though there would be a vote on the much mooted question of an increase in the salaries of members of congress, cabinet officers, etc. Mr. Litchner sought to have the question taken up Thursday, but Mr. Underwood, objected at this stage of the proceeding. He said, however, that he would agree to consider the action at the conclusion of the reading of the bill, and when it shall be reported to the house from the committee of the whole.

During the morning hour of the house several resolutions were passed, one aimed at the lumber trust and calling upon the secretary of commerce and labor to investigate the high prices now prevailing in lumber, and another calling upon the secretary of the interior for a detailed description of the coal lands withdrawn from public entry since July 1, 1906. After completing 145 pages of the bill, it was laid aside until Friday.

Dubois Scores the President.

The senate Thursday listened to the second speech which has been made this session against the continuance of Reed Smoot as senator from Utah. It was delivered by Senator Dubois, of Idaho, who after reviewing in detail the workings of the Mormon church and Mr. Smoot's prominent connection therewith, concluded with the charge that President Roosevelt has used the weight of his administration to assist the Republican Mormon vote in the last election.

A bill was passed providing regulations for fishing vessels to prevent collisions at sea.

Boy Kills Little Girl.

Anora, Ind., Dec. 14.—Broncho Brooks, aged five years, took a loaded shotgun and shot and instantly killed Hazel Huffington, eight years old, here Thursday. The children had been playing together when a childish quarrel arose. The boy seized his father's shotgun and pointing it at the little girl, pulled the trigger.

Wants to Know the Worst.

Thomas Watkins, of Princeton, Ind., is engaged in the odd business of furnishing foxes to fashionable hunting clubs.

Mr. Watkins was talking the other day about a certain master of the hounds.

"A strange man," said the fox purveyor. "A cool one, and no mistake."

"His wife last week fell ill, and the doctor was sent for. The doctor, after he had seen the lady, said to the huntsman:

"You wife is in rather a bad way. He hesitated. Then he went on solemnly: "Do you want to know the worst?"

"Certainly," said the husband. "Tell me the worst—is it to be Palm Beach or the Riviera?"—Minneapolis Journal.

Uncomfortable Shaving.

The traveler, who had just returned from abroad, sank back into his accustomed barber's chair with a sigh of relief. "This is the first time I've had the prospect of a comfortable shave for three months," he remarked.

"They have improved in a good many things abroad," he continued, "but the barbers over on the other side still stick to those uncomfortable chairs of theirs in the most absurd way."

"I asked the man who shaved me in London, and nearly broke my neck at the same time, why they never used American chairs in the barber shops of London."

"I don't know, sir," he said, "except for the reason that they are made in America, sir."

An American Most Likely.

The "Seeing London" automobile rolled out Piccadilly in the direction of Hyde Park.

"That ladies and gents," shouted the guide, as they passed an ancient edifice surrounded by a high brick wall, "that is the town house of the duke of Deva, one of our largest landed proprietors."

"Who landed him?" she cried.

Between Women.

"Yes," said Miss Passay, "he's an awfully inquisitive bore. He was trying to find out my age the other day, so I just up and told him I was 50. That settled him."

"Well," replied Miss Peppery, "I guess it is best to be perfectly candid with a fellow of that sort."

Not Alarming.

"I can't make anything out of that case," began the young doctor.

"What?" exclaimed his wife.

"Oh! don't be scared. I mean I don't understand it; of course, I'm making money out of it."
